

SIDNEY SAX PUBLIC HEALTH MEDAL 2011

Sponsored by

PUBLIC HEALTH EDUCATION RESEARCH TRUST
(PHERT)

The Public Health Association of Australia (PHAA) through Public Health Education Research Trust bestows the "Sidney Sax Public Health Medal" on a person who has provided a notable contribution to the protection and promotion of public health, solving public health problems, advancing community awareness of public health measures and advancing the ideals and practice of equity in the provision of health care.

Call for Nominations for The Sidney Sax Public Health Medal

This competitive Award will be presented to the winner at the 41st PHAA Annual General Meeting in Brisbane, 26-28 September 2011.

To be eligible the nominee must:

- have a proven track record in the advancement of public health in Australia;
- be an Australian citizen or resident; and
- have undertaken his/her activities in Australia.

Criteria for the Sidney Sax Public Health Medal

Nominees will have actively engaged in work or activities in Australia designed to:

- protect and promote public health within Australia;
- promote multi-disciplinary approaches to designing public health solutions and solving public health problems;
- advance community awareness of public health measures and outcomes and the real cost of inadequate public health responses; and
- advance the ideals and practice of equity in the provision of health care (equity defined as equal care for equal need).

Nominees will ideally have a record of achievement in one or more of the above activities.

If you would like to nominate someone, please fill in the Nominee Form and return it to PHAA by email mmoore@phaa.net.au or by fax 02 – 6282 5438.
